간단프로필

Senior Manager in Software Operations Team at Hyosung TNS

I am a software engineer. My major programming language is c++ where I used to make code for Automated Teller Machine software called Service Provider in CEN/XFS standard. I have been working in the ATM software industry for more than 20 years. I have experience in various roles including software development, project management, and team leadership.

I have a strong background in software development methodologies and have led multiple projects from conception to deployment.

Recently, I have developed a framework software for XFS4lot which is a new standard for IoT devices in the financial industry. This framework allows for easier integration and management of IoT devices in ATMs, enhancing the overall functionality and user experience using Go language. The software is designed to be modular and scalable, making it suitable for various applications in the financial sector.

Now I am working as a facilitator for customer support and service operations, ensuring that our software solutions meet the highest standards of quality and reliability. I also focus on improving operational efficiency and customer satisfaction through effective communication and problem-solving strategies.

As a work-hobby, I love exploring new trends in software development and experimenting with new programming Languages in Udemy courses. In AI field, I have completed several Machine Learning courses and am currently exploring Agentic AI using LLMs.

I spent most of my career in the ATM software industry, but I am now looking to expand my horizons and apply my skills in new areas of software development. I am particularly interested in opportunities that allow me to work with cutting-edge technologies and contribute to innovative projects that have a positive impact on society.
